Economic Crisis and Higher Education
The Brookings Institution
Washington, DC

Wednesday, February 4, 2009
10:00am – 3:30pm

Welcome
10:00am – 10:30am

Domestic and Global Economy
10:30am -- Noon

Martin Baily, Brookings
Becky Blank, Brookings
Gary Burtless, Brookings
Charles Schultze, Brookings
Barry Bosworth, Brookings, moderating

Luncheon Discussion on How Colleges and Universities Are Responding to the Economic Crisis
Noon – 1:15pm

Jack DeGioia, Georgetown University, moderating

Future Prospects for the Credit and Capital Markets
1:15pm – 2:30pm

Dwight Crane, Harvard Business School
Tom Healey, Harvard’s Kennedy School and Goldman Sachs
Perry Mehrling, Barnard College, moderating

Looking Ahead
2:30pm – 3:30pm

Mark Zandi, Moody’s Economy.com
Molly Broad, American Council on Education, moderating

Closing
3:30pm

This meeting at the Brookings Institution on the Economic Crisis and Higher Education is made possible through the generous support of TIAA-CREF